Most people know Mr. Cain as "Snake," a nickname coincidentally acquired not as a lawyer, but rather as a teenager. His practice consists of general civil litigation, workers' compensation, personal injury and product liability. Over the years, he has tried cases in state and federal courts throughout East and Middle Tennessee and appeared before the Court of Appeals and the Tennessee Supreme Court.

He is active in the legal community, and has served as a Rule 31 certified general civil mediator by the Tennessee Commission on Alternative Dispute Resolution and on the Federal Court Mediation Panel for the Eastern District of Tennessee. Snake is also a member of the Tennessee Defense lawyers Association Tennessee Bar Association and the Knoxville Bar Association, where he served on the Board of Governors from 1984 to 1986.

In his spare time, he is a trout fisherman and a golfer, and he enjoys spending time with his grandchildren. Snake just finished visiting every county seat in Tennessee without using the interstate or eating at franchise food restaurants.

Snake has a true love for East Tennessee. He attended Knox County schools before graduating from the University of Tennessee for undergraduate and law school. He received his J.D. in 1963, and he has practiced with Frantz, McConnell & Seymour, LLP since 1985. Snake continues to listen to his clients needs and use his expertise to pursue excellence in each and every outcome.
